

Labycare-Specimen (SKSS-SL012)

Specimen

Description :

A specimen is a sample of material, biological tissue, or substance collected for observation, testing, or analysis in laboratories. It is essential in medical, scientific, and educational fields. Proper handling, preservation, and labeling ensure accurate results and prevent contamination during experiments, diagnosis, and detailed research studies.

labycare

www.labycare.com | Email: labycare@gmail.com