

Labycare-Dissection Tray (SKSS-SE019)

Dissection Tray

Description :

A dissection tray is a laboratory tool used for holding specimens during dissection and anatomical studies. It provides a stable surface for cutting and examination. Commonly used in biology labs and medical education, it often includes a wax or rubber base for pinning specimens securely in place.